

Mixed-variable gyrokinetics

Alexey Mishchenko¹

¹*Max-Planck-Institut für Plasmaphysik, Greifswald, Germany*

I will describe a new formulation of the electromagnetic gyrokinetic theory based on a splitting of the magnetic potential into two parts. This splitting, being arbitrary, introduces a degree of freedom which can be utilized to optimize numerics. This approach has been implemented and successfully tested in gyrokinetic codes. I will describe the simulation results showing performance of this scheme.