Wendelstein 7-X Data Access, Data Usage and Software Policy

All members of the W7-X team are, for the time of their membership,

- authorized to access central data repositories (archive database, MDS+ tree), , modelling results for experiments and respective documentation stored on the W7-X internal websites;
- obliged to provide (1) all data to the central data repositories indicated above in the shortest time technically possible and (2) all documentation, calibration information to allow the analysis of such provided data;
- authorized to use software for the retrieval and the analysis of data (including web-services) which is released to the W7-X team;
- obliged to follow the IT security rules of IPP Greifswald (see <http://www.mpcdf.mpg.de/userspace/forms/terms-of-use-for-guest-users> and <http://www.mpcdf.mpg.de/userspace/forms/regulations>);

and also for the time beyond their membership,

- agree to follow IPP's rules for the dissemination of software (i.e. any dissemination of software fully or partially created at IPP required a director's board approval). Any public release of that software and any other intellectual property of the W7-X Team is not allowed.
- authorized to create public scientific documents from the data and scientific results of W7-X and to publish the documents after clearance according to the IPP publication rules (see <https://intranet.ipp.mpg.de/231874/wissver>) and the EUROfusion publication rules (see <https://www.euro-fusion.org/collaborators/publications/>); in particular to upload publications to the IPP and the EUROfusion pinboard and to include the EUROfusion disclaimer; obliged to include W7-X team as a co-author of any publication that uses directly or indirectly the aforementioned data, software and any derived conclusion involving those.

Members of the W7-X team are scientists of IPP Greifswald, contributors to WPS1 (cf. Project Management Plan) and any other cooperation partner contributing to W7-X (confirmed by one Scientific Director of IPP Greifswald). Membership requires the acceptance of this document by signature.

An IPP account will be set up for each member of the W7-X Team. Membership in the W7-X Team is evidenced by a valid user ID at IPP Greifswald and lapses upon expiry of the respective user ID. Membership may be terminated by the Scientific Board of IPP in the event of non-compliance with the aforementioned rules.
